Await Arrival of 3 Freed by Reds

Two Newsmen, Sea Captain Are 'Expelled'

West Left Guessing
As to Where Americans
Will Be Released

HONG KONG (UP)—Communist silence today shrouded the whereabouts of three Americans the Chinese Reds claim to have freed from Communist jails after 18 months of imprisonment.

Red China's New China News Agency said in a news item broadcast by Radio Peiping that the three men — two news correspondents and a sea captain — have been "expelled."

The United States Consulate at Hong Kong said the three—newsmen Richard Applegate, Don Dixon and Capt. Ben Krasner—were not aboard today's train from Canton to the Red China-Hong Kong frontier.

The Reds gave no further information on the release of the three and left it to the West to guess when and where the three would be set free.

Hong Kong appeared the most likely place. But the Chinese could place them aboard a ship leaving Shanghai, Tientsin or any other coastal port, or could put them across the border in Burma or into any of the countries adjoining Red China's sprawling frontier.

New China News Agency said in an item broadcast by Radio Peiping that Communist China had expelled Richard Applegate, Don Dixon and sea Capt. Ben Krasner. Applegate, a former United Press war correspondent; Dixon, of the International News Service, and Krasner were seized by a Red Chinese gunboat crew on March 21, 1953, while shaking down Applegate's yacht between Hong Kong and Portuguese Macao for a world cruise later.

The Communists jailed the three men for 18 months on charges of intruding into Red Chinese territorial waters.

Reds Confiscate Yacht
NCNA said Applegate's yacht, "Kert," had been confiscated. British authorities last saw the "Kert" being towed up the Pearl River into Red China nine days after it had been seized.

In a separate NCNA dispatch, also broadcast by Peiping, the Communists said they had sentenced Hugh Francis Redmond of New York to life imprisonment in China for espionage.

NCNA said Redmond came to Red China in 1946 and remained after the "liberation" to operate an extensive spy ring. Two of Redmond's alleged agents were sentenced to death.

Specifically, Redmond was accused of spying in Peiping, Shanghai and Mukden using employment by the Henningsen Produce Co., an American firm, as a cover for his activities.

No Details In Release

Peiping's announcement that Applegate, Dixon and Krasner were being released gave no details of their expulsion. The broadcast did not say when and where they would be turned over to U. S. authorities.

Announcement of the trio's release climaxed long efforts by the U. S. State Department and American foreign correspondents to obtain their freedom.

Applegate, 42, joined the United Press at Portland, Ore., in 1936. After World War II service in the U. S. Navy, Applegate worked for the United Press in Manila, Singapore, Rangoon and Saigon and covered the Korean War and Panmunjom truce negotiations. He resigned in 1953 to make a dream trip around the world on his newly purchased ship and later took a job as correspondent for the National Broadcasting Co.

Flood Waters by Hurricane Edna Leave 23 Dead

PORTLAND, Maine (UP)—Swirling flood waters loosed by hurricane Edna subsided slowly today, leaving in their wake a toll of 23 dead and damage that may run to 100 million dollars.

Maine, hardest-hit of the New England states which have undergone the lashings of two hurricanes in 12 days, counted eight drownings and damage of seven million dollars from the Caribbean-born storm which blew itself out Sunday over the Gulf of St. Lawrence in Quebec.

The effects of the storm were expected to cut down the turnout for today's Maine election, first in the nation.

New Hampshire, brushed by hurricane Carol Aug. 31, reported four times the damage from Edna.

While hurricane Carol's damage was wrought chiefly by savage winds, hurricane Edna dumped torrents of rain, with falls of more than eight inches reported, in Maine.

Three persons drowned in Sandy Stream at Unity, Me., one of them an eight-year-old girl who was swept from her father's arms. Ruth Brockway, one of eight children, died after she and the other nine members of the family had spent a harrowing seven hours atop their automobile which had become mired in the stream's overflow though it had negotiated the bridge safely.

Rescuer Also Drowns
Alton McCormick, 47, also of Unity, was drowned while forming part of a human chain that saved all members of the Brockway family except Ruth. The third death at Unity was that of William White, 25, of Winterport, who drowned in his submerged truck in the same stream.

Massachusetts also was hard hit by flooding, particularly in the central part of the state. Some 1,000 homes in Framingham Center were partially flooded when the Sudbury River spilled over its banks.

The storm struck Canada's east coast provinces with savage fury and left a multi-million dollar trail of destruction before dying out over the Atlantic.

Hardest hit was the Annapolis Valley in Nova Scotia, where farmers stood helplessly and watched the 85-mile-an-hour winds destroy up to 90 per cent of their ripening apple crop, at a loss of more than four million dollars in apples and trees.

FHA Scandal Investigator Hits Democrats

Charges Powell Received More Than $100,000 in Payments

WASHINGTON (UP)—A special investigator has charged that the Democrats were lax in administering the housing program and that former housing official Clyde L. Powell received more than $100,000 in "payments" from "promoters."

William F. McKenna, who headed the government's investigation of the scandal-ridden Federal Housing Administration said that Democratic administrations failed to do anything about irregularities and permitted bribery.

In a final report on his five-month investigation, McKenna also said "corruption" in the FHA apartment building program from 1946 to 1950 "is largely the story of the reign of Clyde L. Powell."

Powell, who was not immediately available for comment, twice refused to answer questions of the Senate Banking committee which conducted public hearings on the housing scandals. His case now is being studied by the Justice Department. Powell was formerly assistant FHA commissioner in charge of rental housing.

McKenna said "a number" of FHA employees have been removed as a result of his inquiry and others against whom "serious charges appear to have been substantiated" are or soon will be put on "involuntary annual leave" until former disciplinary action can be taken. A housing agency spokesman said 25 FHA employees have been removed since the investigation began.

McKenna said details of cases of "gratuities, bribery and conflict of interest" found during the investigation have been turned over to the housing agency's new compliance division.

He recommended a number of ways to tighten up housing laws and regulations to prevent future violations and abuses. Many of these already have been enacted by Congress or put into new rules by the government.

Miss America Begins Cashing In On Charm

NEW YORK (UP)—Brunette Lee Ann Meriwether, California beauty who says she was "saved" by the flat-chested fashions of Christian Dior, came to the big town Monday to begin cashing in on the charm that won her the title of Miss America of 1955.

The slender, 19-year-old dramatic student from San Francisco moved into the Waldorf Astoria hotel and prepared for a year-long reign that will reap her at least $50,000 in public appearance fees throughout the world.

Miss Meriwether arrived here from Atlantic City, N. J., accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ethel Meriwether.

On the agenda today was a long sleep in the morning topped by breakfast in bed, and later in the afternoon a "strictly for women" shopping tour through fashionable Fifth Avenue stores.

During the next two weeks the green-eyed beauty will make a series of public and television appearances and then plunge into her newly won role in earnest with a 15-day tour of South America.

The slender Miss California, whose victory at the Atlantic City Miss America Pageant won her a $5,000 scholarship in addition to furs, jewels and a snappy sports car, said she owed an incalculable debt to Paris fashion designer Christian Dior and his new flat-chested look.

"Dior came just in time to save me," said Miss Meriwether, who is five feet, seven and one-half inches tall, weighs 124 pounds and has a 34½-inch bust. Her waist is 22 inches and her hips 35.

Lee, who is a drama student at City College of San Francisco, said she plans to use her scholarship to attend college for another year and hopes to win a fellowship to the Pasadena Playhouse for two years of dramatic instruction. Eventually, she wants to work for a master's degree in radio and television.

Second place in the contest was won by Ann Gloria Daniel, 21, Miss Florida, of Dade City. Next came Polly Rankin Suber, 19, Miss South Carolina of Whitmore; Barbara Sue Nager, 19, Miss Pennsylvania of Philadelphia; and Janice Hutton Somers, 19, Miss Michigan of Lansing.

Patsy Bruce, Miss Illinois of Fairfield, was named "Miss Congeniality," and awarded a $1,000 scholarship. She was chosen by the other contestants.

Work Progresses On Dixon Springs- Mitchellville Road

Work is progressing well on the Mitchellville - to - Dixon Springs road, a visit to the project yesterday revealed.

Paving had been completed from Route 146 near Dixon Springs northward to a point about a half mile south of Delwood. This means that there are approximately five and one-half miles of paving to be done between that point and Route 34 at Mitchellville.

Delwood is just a short distance over the Saline-Pope county line in Pope County. It is the site of the S. J. Groves Construction Co. batch plant for the job.

Reports were that the company is getting from 1,400 to 1,700 feet of paving done a day. Paving operations are under way six days a week.

Faces Charges By State Police, Sheriff Spangler

Samuel Louis Carlisle of Galatia today had charges against him, one upon complaint of state police and the other on complaint of the county sheriff.

Carlisle was picked up yesterday by State Police Sergeant Murray Stinson upon a complaint from Galatia that Carlisle, who had been drinking, had driven off in a car belonging to somebody else.

Stinson brought him to jail here shortly after 5:30 p. m. and about 20 minutes later Sheriff Paul Spangler heard some yelling from the jail's bull pen.

Investigating, Spangler found five mattresses and some pillows had been piled up in front of the bull pen door and set afire. The fire department was called and people around the jail started pouring water on the blaze. Dam and was confined to the mattresses and pillows.

This morning Stinson filed the driving charge against Carlisle and Spangler filed a charge of destruction of public property.

Circuit Court Opens With Judge Reynolds Presiding

The September term of Saline county circuit court opened this morning with Judge C. Ross Reynolds of Vienna presiding and the first order of business was the empaneling of a grand jury, which immediately went into session.

No law suits were started this morning as the setting for today was cleared out. Settled were C. M. Harding vs. J. M. Hatcher, W. B. Westbrook et al vs. Burdette Mosby and Ida Mae Hart vs. John L. Hart, and continued were Register Publishing Co. vs. John C. Porter and Frank Martin vs. Ethel Martin. Taken off the docket was Mabel Capel vs. J. M. Capel, scheduled for Wednesday.

Two Youths Injured In Accident, are Released from Hospital

Loy Lee Rice and Terry Guldge, Carrier Mills youths injured in an automobile accident Aug. 30, have been released from the Lightner hospital and Guldge plans to enter Carrier Mills high school Tuesday, where he is a junior.

Guldge, who suffered a broken leg, is walking with crutches but was to have a rubber cap attached to the cast today and it is thought he will then be able to walk without the use of crutches.

Rice was graduated from the Carrier Mills high school last spring.

Thousands of Nickels Pour In to Couple After Suggestion by Garry Moore on TV

MT. PLEASANT, Mich. (UP)—Charles Deibel and his pretty wife, Margaret, today began the delightful task of counting thousands of nickels which have poured into their mail box from across the country.

The money has been arriving ever since Garry Moore suggested on his television show last Friday that viewers mail nickels to Mrs. Deibel simply because she "stands on her own two feet" and doesn't ask for a handout.

Each train brought new sacks of mail for the overwhelmed couple, leading observers to speculate the nickels may add up to $100,000 when the last envelope is opened.

Mrs. Deibel, the 26-year-old mother of a small son and daughter, appeared on Moore's program in New York last Friday, then returned to her home here to cope with the mushrooming fortune.

"He (Moore) said I had a pretty face and invited me to come to the stage," Mrs. Deibel said. "Then he asked if I were rich. I told him we certainly were not but that

HTHS to Expand Facilities at Taylor Field

7 Lots Purchased;
To Build New Exit,
Entrance Gates

The facilities at Taylor Field are to be expanded and improved, it was announced today by George Davenport, president of the Harrisburg Township high school board of education.

Purchased with funds of the HTHS Athletic association are seven lots immediately west of the football field which will be used as added parking areas, he said, and declared that a new entrance and exit gate will be built on the west side of the field.

Two of the new lots are at the corner of O'Garra and Capitol, which means they are across from the northwest corner of the field. There is a gap between these and five other lots, which are across from the field's southwest corner.

Mr. Davenport said that work on the gate and the two lots at O'Garra and Capitol are scheduled to get started immediately and be ready for the first home contest, which will be a week from Friday night. The other lots will be made into a parking area immediately, too, if enough cinders are available, he said.

The present parking area north of Taylor Field will be maintained, also.

Mr. Davenport said that present plans are to build ticket booths in the parking lots to avoid congestion at the gates.

Other plans, he said, are to build an entrance at the southeast corner of the present lot so that the roadway in front of Taylor Field can be blocked off on game nights, and to improve an area the athletic association owns across the ditch from the southeast corner of the field for a practice area.

Thousands of Nickels Pour In to Couple After Suggestion by Garry Moore on TV

we weren't looking for any free touches.

"We chatted for a few minutes. Then Garry just popped out with the suggestion that everyone watching the show send us a nickel. And they've certainly been sending them."

The post office in Mt. Pleasant, a town of 11,000 persons, has hired extra mail handlers to deal with the Deibels' unexpected windfall. More than 50,000 envelopes arrived during the weekend.

Mrs. Deibel, whose husband is an appliance salesman, said most of the money will be "put in the old sock" and that some of it undoubtedly will be used to finance their children's education.

Meanwhile, efforts were being made to get a legal opinion on whether the money is tax free. Moore said he believes each nickel should be considered a separate gift on which there is no income tax.

Not all of those who responded to the entertainer's suggestion held their gifts to a nickel. Some of the envelopes contained folding money.

Admits Meeting Of Council Was Unprecedented

Secretary Dulles Sees No Immediate Threat of Invasion

DENVER, Colo. (UP)—President Eisenhower indicated today that no specific decisions were reached in Sunday's unprecedented meeting here of the National Security Council for U. S. participation in the Quemoy crisis.

Mr. Eisenhower said the Security Council meeting merely amounted to "a consulting together" as to the place of this country in the world today.

In a brief statement to reporters today, Mr. Eisenhower conceded the Security Council meeting was unprecedented but that it also was "very natural."

"I have not met with the council for more than two weeks," the President's statement said, "while it happened that yesterday Secretary (of State John Foster) Dulles reached here on his way back from the Philippines where he had been conducting difficult negotiations."

"We met in order that all of us together could have the benefit of his observations and the details of his report. No specific decisions were advanced for action. It was merely a consulting together as to the place of the United States in the world today, in that particular area, that troubled area of the Western Pacific."

Mr. Eisenhower said that during the 3½-hour meeting, the first the Security Council ever has held outside Washington, this nation's policies in certain fields were reaffirmed.

Dulles Sees No Immediate Threat
The secretary of state told a press conference here Sunday before meeting with the President and Security Council, that he sensed no threat of an immediate Red Chinese invasion of either Formosa or Quemoy.

Furthermore, Dulles said the American Seventh Fleet could handle any "possible" Red effort to overrun Formosa, the seat of the Chinese Nationalist government, from the mainland.

As to what the United States would do if the Reds attacked Quemoy, a few miles off the China mainland, Dulles said that would be a matter first for the military. Its recommendations would go to the executive branch, which, however, would not be bound by them.

Dulles' remarks to reporters in connection with the historical National Security Council meeting here at the summer White House highlighted a dramatic and busy day Sunday for Mr. Eisenhower.

Before the meeting, the President received a first-hand report from Attorney General Herbert Brownell Jr. and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover that American Communists have started to take advantage of the new immunity law and are still—

Humane Workers Free Injured Dog from Sewer

A large dog that lay far back in a sewer in northeast Harrisburg for three days after being hit by an auto was rescued yesterday by Humane Society workers.

The dog, witnesses said, had been hit late Thursday and had worked its way back into a sewer pipe on Route 45 in the Harrisburg city limits.

Humane workers, called yesterday afternoon, saw the dog wedged about eight feet back in the sewer, the pipe of which was about 12 inches in diameter.

After other means failed, a noose was placed on the end of a pole, and after considerable time, the noose was worked around the animal's head and it was pulled out. Taken to the society's shelter, it was found that the dog was paralyzed in its back and hind legs.

Auto and Truck Collide on Rt. 34

The Rev. G. E. Slavens, Galatia minister, was treated at Lightner hospital and released following an auto-truck crash this morning.

The car driven by Rev. Slavens and a truck driven by Eugene Karnes of near Galatia collided on Route 34 in Galatia.

Karnes received minor injuries but was not hospitalized. Both men were alone in their vehicles when the crash occurred, reports said.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Dewey Figures Ike Will Run
Again; Mrs. Hobby Was Opposed To New School Construction At This Time; Maine
May Not Be So Rock-Ribbed
On Monday.

WASHINGTON. — One important factor behind Tom Dewey's withdrawal from the re-election race is his belief that Eisenhower will now run for a second term.

When Eisenhower first entered the White House he was quite frank in telling close friends that he would be a one-term President.
On top of this, there was evidence of a tacit understanding that if Ike did not run again he would throw his weight behind Dewey — the man who got him the nomination in Chicago.

Recently, however, Eisenhower has given various intangible indications that he likes his job better and will run for re-election in 1956.
Certainly a powerful group of Eisenhower Republicans are determined that he shall run.

This, according to close friends of Governor Dewey, is one reason he decided to step down. If he remains out of public life for a time, Dewey figures, he might have a much better chance to come back in 1960 and attain his great ambition—the presidency of the United States. He is still a relatively young man.

TAFT REPUBLICANS ELATED
Taft Republicans are not only elated at Dewey's step-down, but are conspiring for other step-downs of top Deweyites in key GOP places. Bitterness against Dewey has not simmered much since those virulent days in July, 1952, when Senator Dirksen of Illinois branded Dewey a menace to his party.

Dirksen himself has made peace with Dewey, but not some of the other anti-Dewey, pro-Taft die-hards. Some even go so far as to say privately that they would rather see the Republican party defeated in 1956 than tolerate Dewey in or around the White House.
They figure they could re-form their ranks four years later, then stage a comeback.

Note — Dewey is likely to find that his power in New York politics will be considerably lessened after he's left the executive mansion. Sen. Irving Ives has already taken the New York Republican organization pretty well away from Dewey—although they remain friends—in addition to which many New York Republicans dislike the governor profoundly.

WHO KILLED THE SCHOOL
BILL?

As millions of youngsters begin a new school term, here is the inside story of why Congress never passed the $500,000,000 school construction bill pushed by Senator Cooper of Kentucky.

Cooper, a Republican, championed the bill despite the fact that the Eisenhower administration was against it. He was joined by Sen.
Lister Hill, Alabama Democrat,
and others. But when Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare, was called to testify, she told senators that while she was for the principle of the bill she was against its adoption at this time.

Instead she proposed a survey and a conference two years hence to study the needs for school construction.

This brought immediate objections from Senator Hill. He pointed out that the 81st Congress had already spent $3,000,000 on a school survey and as a result they knew exactly what the needs were.
Some of the figures Mrs. Hobby had cited in her testimony before the Senate committee, he said, came from this survey.

"There have already been seven national conferences on this question," Hill protested. "They even began under the Hoover administration. Meanwhile our schools are getting more and more crowded. It seems to me it is time for action, not talk. The Eisenhower administration made a specific pledge to help the schools, and this is the time to do it."

Senator Cooper, Republican, agreed, and both senators pushed the bill. But when Commissioner of Education Sam Brownell, brother of the attorney general, was asked to testify, he first accepted, then backed out. It was learned that his failure to testify was on direct orders from his superiors in the Health, Education and Welfare Department.

Brownell had previously announced that there was a national shortage of 340,000 classrooms, but

Mrs. Hobby didn't want him to testify about this before the Senate.

Thanks to the perseverance of Cooper and Hill, however, the school bill finally came up on the Senate consent calendar during the last hectic days of Congress.
There, paradoxically, it was a leading Democrat who killed it — Senator Russell of Georgia. He protested that the bill carried too big an appropriation — half-a-billion dollars — to be acted on without proper debate and that it should not be rushed through on the consent calendar. Technically, he was correct.

But technicalities won't make much difference to the children who are going back to overcrowded schoolrooms.

AS MAINE GOES

The old political tradition of "as Maine goes so goes the nation" comes up for its biennial test on today, and you can write it down as certain that Sen. Margaret Chase Smith, the Republican lady who trounced McCarthy's candidate in the primary, will win.

Strange as it may seem, however, there is a real political ferment in Maine, and the race for governor of the Pine Tree state is going to be close.

In fact, the Democratic party, for the first time in 20 years, has really begun to come to life, and the Democratic candidate for governor, young Edward Muskie, has an outside chance of winning.

This is the result partly of the unpopularity of Republican Gov.
Purton Cross, who has managed to antagonize more people in one term than most governors do in two. It's also due to the popularity of Muskie, the Democratic leader of the state legislature who seems to have so many Republican friends that there's a slogan:
"Vote M and M — Margaret and Muskie."

Finally it's due to the amazing
new activity of the once dormant Democratic party, sparked by State Chairman Frank M. Coffin, and featured by rewards to those party workers who set up the large-est card-index of voters, scholarship awards, and a fund-raising drive of around $10,000, which is peanuts in Texas but seems like a lot of money for the Democrats in Maine.

As a result, even Mrs. Smith has stated that this is her hardest campaign. She is opposed by Paul Fullam, a distinguished professor of history at Colby college, who is waging a vigorous campaign despite the difficulty of overcoming the affection and admiration which state-of-Mainers have for Mrs.
Smith.

AROUND SPRINGFIELD

Governor Stratton's Executive Secretary, Marion Patricia McKeever, Is 'Miss Know How'

By DON E. CHAMBERLAIN
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. — They call her "Miss First Secretary of Illinois" but to the office of Gov. William G. Stratton and the Chief Executive himself she is "Miss Know How." The lady is Miss Marion Patricia McKeever of Coal City in Grundy County, the official executive secretary to the Governor and the first woman to hold such an office in Illinois.

To Governor Stratton Miss McKeever is the perfect secretary, because, he says, she has the "know how" to get a thing done. To William "Smokie" W. Downey, Springfield, executive administrative assistant to the Governor (he gets the "Smokie" from his "watch my smoke" expression of his newspaper reporting days) Miss McKeever is "No. One" on the "Governor's team."

To newsmen who make the Governor's office a twice-a-day or more call on the statehouse beat, the comely, well-dressed Miss McKeever is "Tops." When the Governor isn't accessible and she can't take over a news project she always has Downey, (whose job, like her's, is an executive appointment requiring state Senate approval) to refer them to.

The Governor and his secretary first met in 1936 when Stratton moved to Morris in Grundy county from Lake county. She then kept house for her father and was active in Republican politics. She once was junior Republican national committeewoman for Illinois at the time the junior national committeeman was Charles Fleck, Chicago, later to manage Stratton's campaign in 1952.

It was her political and public relations "savvy" which attracted Stratton. So when he was elected in 1940 he asked Miss McKeever to be his secretary, again when he was elected state treasurer in 1942, and again in 1946 as congressman-at-large, and as state treasurer in 1950.

Miss McKeever is a graduate of Springfield High School which she attended when her father worked in the state capital. Later as she was secretary to Stratton in Washington she took a special course in business advertising at George Washington University and in higher English at Catholic University. She is proud she was born in Coal City and still lives there.

When Miss McKeever accepted her appointment as executive secretary she was the only woman in the United States holding such a post, although it is said that governors of several other states have since done likewise, but as has been said by her biographers, it is doubtful if their duties are as wide in range as hers.

Her day starts with early conference with the Governor—usually attended by Downey on policy questions and appointments. She admits to headaches but not to irritations. There are trials, tribulations, troubles but she says there are also amusing incidents and she keeps a sort of diary which she says may some day make a book called "I watched the candidates struggle."

During the day there are the surprise callers who want to see the Governor. It's always something "important" and I know Bill will want to see headhunting or some other person whom she has to pacify because he can't understand why he can't get in "for just a few minutes" and take up the time of somebody else who has arranged days or weeks ahead for his or her appointment.

Miss McKeever also has to handle
a heavy mail, much of which usually starts out with some flattering or complimentary expression but which always have a "catch"—it's a job or a favor, and then there is always that disarrangement of the appointment schedule such as when about 16,000 school children "drowned" by one week to see and shake hands with the Governor.

The executive secretary to the governor is a very popular person and has to be careful to avoid obligating herself or the Governor.
Last Christmas she returned three TV sets, ten clocks and other luxury gifts but they weren't brought by any red-nosed reindeer. She returned them on the theory that the donors might plan to use it as a means to get a favor from the governor.

What Miss McKeever thinks of her job probably is best described by her own words as she wrote of "A Day With The Executive Secretary To Our Governor" for the August Bulletin of the Federation of Illinois Women's Republican Clubs. She said: "Some say Governor Stratton is the hardest working Governor in the Union. I believe it. I know how hard he works, because I work hard too."

"The day in the Governor's office begins for his staff at 8:30
a. m.," she wrote. "Sometime he shows up ahead of his staff and then we never really catch up with that day. The day ends when he goes home, infrequently before six
p. m. but hardly ever after 7:30.
The Governor puts his work day in at his office. When he leaves it is truly to go 'home' to be with his family."

The best way to see the Governor, Miss McKeever says, is on "public day," nearly every Thursday when he sits in a chair at a long director's table in his large outer statehouse reception office and greets anyone who wants to call,
even if it is only to say "hello," to make a suggestion or state a gripe. She calls "public day" a "triple blessing."

"It allows the governor to see more persons, hear their problems and opinions, gives me a chance to catch up with my work and offers a place to schedule visitors whose business does not warrant a private interview with the Governor," she said. "Another good way to see the governor is to write a letter and state your problem so information can be prepared for the interview."

As regards ambition, Miss McKeever er says she is content to sit on the sideline in government and politics. She says she has no aspiration for public office, she never ran for one although she admits she was once elected a justice of the peace. Her name was put forth by enthusiastic friends without her knowledge. After she was elected she refused to qualify.

"The biggest kick I get out of my job and the thing which pleases me most is when I can produce when the Governor calls me in and asks for some data or an answer to a question or a problem and I have the answer at my finger tips," she says. "The Governor is not one to adhere to a routine. There's one thing for certain, you will never get in a rut working for Governor Stratton."

Social and Personal Items

McKinley Baptist Missionary Society Elects Officers

The Women's Missionary Society of the McKinley Avenue Baptist church met Wednesday afternoon at the church for the regular business and missionary program. Mrs. Nettie Yarbrough, president, presided over the business session.

Mrs. Henry Hendren and Mrs. Levi Chitty were appointed to reorganize the circles, and officers for the coming year were announced by the nominating committee as follows: President, Mrs. Webb Yarbrough; first vice, Mrs. Kirt Gasaway; second vice, Mrs. Houston Smith; secretary and treasurer, Mrs. J. D. McCarty; assistant, Mrs. Oscar Agin; community missions chairman, Mrs. Levi Chitty; mission study chairman, Mrs. Louise LaBaw; stewardship chairman, Mrs. Amy Ford; pianist, Mrs. Louise Fulkerson; chorister, Mrs. Helen Smith, and young peoples leader, Mrs. Wayne Newcomb.

Mrs. Hendren, program chairman for Circle B, was in charge of the lesson, and the devotion was given by Mrs. Ford who read from Psalms 1, comparing a Christian and a tree. As a background she used a poster with the drawing of a large tree. The trunk represented the W. M. U., and the branches the various auxiliaries. The theme was "A Savior Sufficient for Leaders of Youth."

Mrs. Carsa Gardner spoke on "Youth Feels Frustrated"; Mrs. Wayne Newcomb, "We Have Organizations to Help"; Mrs. Eunice Burroughs, "Are We Afraid of Ourselves"; Mrs. Chitty, "Such Excuses as We Make"; Mrs. Roma Caldwell, "Let Us Determine That We Can Lead"; Mrs. Lucy Rumsey, "Leaders of Youth"; and Mrs. Jane Gasaway, "Hearing His Call." Closing prayer was given by Mrs. Yarbrough.

Mrs. James M. Murphy, formerly Bernadene Johnson, who underwent surgery recently at St. Theresa hospital in Beaumont, Texas, is recovering favorably. Her mother, Mrs. Fred Kline, is with her.

Liberty Baptist W. M. S. Has Missionary Program

The W. M. S. of the Liberty Baptist church met Friday evening for the regular Royal Service program and state missions session of prayer and offering.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. Woodrow Owen, president, and Mrs. Elbert Langford, program chairman, who gave the devotion, "God's Way is Perfect," Psalms 18:30 and 27:11. Comments by state workers were given by Sarah Gibbs, Margaret Hendshaw, Wanda Pyles and Jane Wasson, Y. W. A. girls participating in the program.

Topics were given by the following women: Mrs. Esco Horton, "God's Wisdom"; Mrs. Woodrow Owen, "God's Offer"; Mrs. Lela Gibbs, "God's Record"; Mrs. Renzo Horton, "God's Dependence"; Mrs. Willie Hendren, "God's Witnessing"; Mrs. Paul Frick, "God's Accepting"; and Mrs. Bryan Malone, "God's Yielding."

Prayers were led by Mrs. George Mitchell, Mrs. Lela Gibbs, Mrs. Bryan Malone and Miss Jane Wasson.

Mrs. Frick gave the Royal Service lesson, "A Savior Sufficient for Leaders of Youth," at which time she revealed that a G. A. is to be organized with Miss Wanda Pyles and Mrs. George Pyles leading the girls. She closed the meeting with prayer for young people and their leaders.

Homemade ice cream and cake were served in the church basement.

Dorrisville Baptist Ladies Bible Class Elects Officers

The Ladies Bible class of the Dorrisville Baptist church met with Mrs. Amos Dunn for the regular class session Thursday evening.

The meeting was opened with the song, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." Mrs. Dunn, the class president, read the third chapter of John for the devotion.

An election of officers for the new year was held as follows: President, Mrs. Dunn; vice president, Mrs. Maud Shelton; secretary-treasurer, Mrs. George Wilkinson; reporter, Mrs. Roy Hudnell. Mrs. Ralph Stout was re-elected class teacher.

After games were played refreshments of homemade ice cream and cake were served, and each person received a mystery pal gift.

Present were Mrs. Dan Gholson, Mrs. Ralph Stout, Mrs. Thelma Dunning, Mrs. George Holland, Mrs. Lon Vaughn, Mrs. Rose Stricklin, Mrs. Versa Mattingly, Mrs. George Wilkinson, Mrs. Roy Hudnell, Mrs. Clarence Dixon, Mrs. Boyd Langford, Mrs. Homer Wallace and Mrs. Archie Dill. The next meeting will be a Halloween party at the home of Mrs. Vaughn.

Announce Marriage of Miss Marlene Rann, Charles Johnson

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Miss Jane Marlene Rann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry A. Rann, Carrier Mills, and Charles Lendell Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson, Carrier Mills.

The simple double ring ceremony was performed Sunday, Aug. 23, at 5:30 p. m. in the Third Baptist church in Marion by the Rev. S. M. Foulon.

The bride chose for her wedding a white tailored suit with black accessories and wore a shoulder corsage of pink carnations. She carried a white Bible, a gift of a former music teacher.

She was attended by Mrs. Cordell Hill who was dressed in blue, wearing a white corsage and white accessories.

Cordell Hill, Carrier Mills, served as best man. The bride and bridegroom will both be students at Murray State college, Murray, Ky., this year. He has a year at SIU and a year at Brescia college in Owensboro, Ky., and she has three years at Southern Illinois university.

They will be at home at 1096 Main street in Murray, Ky.

A wedding shower was given Thursday evening for the newlyweds at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Johnson.

TOKYO - Typhoon June smashed into Japan's southernmost island today and flooded entire towns.

June's winds slowed down to about 90 miles per hour when the mammoth, 550-mile-wide Pacific hurricane struck Kyushu's high mountains.

At least 12 persons were killed during the first six hours that typhoon June was inland.

Weather forecasters predicted a further drop in June's destructive force as the storm moved on a northward course across Kyushu and southwestern Honshu Island.

Torrential rains isolated towns, set off flood and landslides and raised the prospect of a heavy death toll.

A phenomenal 20 to 27 inch rainfall was reported from mountain villages in southern Kyushu, where the downpour started Sunday. Main cities had five or more inches of rain in 24 hours.

The storm's present course will take it 250 miles northwest of Tokyo by Tuesday afternoon.

U. S. Army families at Camp Bofu in southern Honshu Island near Hiroshima were evacuated to another camp away from the sea-coast.

Centralia Man Dies of Injuries

CENTRALIA, Ill. (UP)—Rooney Barker, 50, Centralia, died in a hospital here Sunday of injuries received in a two-car collision at a downtown intersection Sunday morning.

Barker received severe head and chest injuries when his car hit an auto driven by A. H. Huff, 61, Centralia, who also was injured.

Death Takes Mrs. Wm. E. Joyner, Former Resident

Mrs. Eva B. Joyner, widow of the late William E. Joyner, died Sunday at Oroville, Calif., where she and her only son, Burnett Joyner, and his wife, have resided for the past eight years.

Mrs. Joyner was well known to this vicinity. She was the daughter of Mrs. Melissa Burnett, who resided on a farm immediately north of Harrisburg until she was past 90 years of age. Following the death of her parents, Mrs. Joyner and her two brothers, the late H. and Fay Burnett, continued to live on the farm there until both of the brothers died.

Her husband was a well known merchant at Muddy during his lifetime, and her father was a tobacco grower back in the early days in Saline county.

New Chief Justice As Illinois Supreme Court Convenes

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—The Illinois Supreme Court convened today for its September term, with George W. Bristow of Paris taking over as chief justice.

Bristow, 59, assumed the post at the head of the state's highest court under the tribunal's system of rotating the chief justiceship every fall. He succeeded Justice Walter A. Schafer, Lake Bluff.

Some 50 cases were listed on the court's advisement docket, ready for final decision when the term ends late next week.

One of the leading issues which may be decided is the constitutionality of the 1953 law which tightened up driver license requirements and gave the secretary of state strict revocation powers.

Light Voting Today in Storm-Battered Maine; 10 Primaries Tuesday

PORTLAND, Maine (UP)—Early voting was light as hurricane-battered Maine went to the polls today in the nation's lead-off election.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon has hailed the election as the first test of the Eisenhower administration by the voters.

The sky was blue and temperatures near freezing as the polls opened at 5 a. m. CST. They close at 6 p. m. CST.

The weather bureau predicted clear and warmer weather as the day progressed.

Republicans feared the destruction wrought Saturday by the big storm would keep voters away from the polls and destroy the balloting's national significance.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Primaries in nine states Tuesday will virtually complete the selection of candidates to compete in the November election for control of Congress during the next two years.

Primaries will be held in Colorado, Massachusetts, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New York, Utah, Vermont, Washington and Wisconsin.

Five Senate seats will be at stake among those states this year—two in New Hampshire and one each in Colorado, Massachusetts and Minnesota.

Weather Bureau Has Plenty of Names Left for Storms

MIAMI — The Weather Bureau's new system of designating tropical storms alphabetically by girls' names apparently makes no arrangements for "X-Y-Z" but the weatherman's not worried.

"We don't think we'll ever get that far down the list," said a veteran hurricane forecaster here.

Alice, Barbara, Carol, Dolly and Edna already have been checked in this season. Should there be more, the Miami Weather Bureau is ready with Florence, Gilda, Hazel, Irene, Jill, Katherine, Lucy, Mabel, Norma, Orpha, Patsy, Queen, Rachel, Susy, Tina, Una, Vicky and Wallis.

BUGS BUNNY

POURTRAIT EXHIBITED—This portrait of William H. Farley was on exhibition recently in the "Gallery of Outstanding Portraits" at the National Photographers Convention in the Conrad Hilton hotel in Chicago. Several weeks ago the Anso Company of Binghamton, N. Y., asked J. R. Metcalf of the Metcalf Studio to make a picture of a local citizen on their film. Mr. Farley was chosen for the subject and the Anso Company exhibited the portrait in life size on a special panel between two other photographs.

After a moment Laura smiled faintly. "I want to wash up." She started away, then stopped. "You know that Luke Miller was killed right after you left?"

He could not conceal a start and she went on into the stage station. For long moments, Tancred remained standing where she had left him, then Waxman, the agent, came out and called to him, "Grub's ready."

When he had finished eating, Tancred went out and took care of the horses. He came out of the corral and found Laura standing nearby.

"Who killed him?" he asked. "No one knows who fired the gun. Fugger and Smith say it was you."

"That's nonsense! Miller meant more to me than any man I've met in... in years."

"They say you killed him because he found out who you were."

"They know... everyone?"

"Yes."

He was silent for a moment, but a little frown grew on his face, a frown that had seldom come on his features, usually cold and impassive. "What do you think?"

"I don't think—I know—that you didn't kill him."

"What's Mrs. Miller doing?"

"What can she do?"

Tancred hesitated. "I thought perhaps she'd keep on with the paper."

"That's a man's job."

"Women have run newspapers."

"Not in Sage City; not with Jacob Fugger owning the town."

He drew a slow breath. "Who's mayor of Sage?"

"Who else?"

"How could he be? His term was up. Even with Miller dead."

"What council?"

"So it's like that. But... Lee Kinnaird?"

"He arrested Hong Kong Smith and a mob broke into the jail and turned him loose."

"Lee?" exclaimed Tancred.

"He was hurt, but he's all right. He—he says you left Sage City because you were afraid that your staying would hurt Mr. Miller—when people knew you were Tancred."

"She paused. "Good night—Wes."

She turned and walked toward the station. Tancred walked toward the corral with certain steps and swinging open the gate went inside and found his own horse.

He led it out and saddled it in front of the stable. He looped his carpetbag over the horn and swung up into the saddle.

He rode past the stage station at a careful walk and did not see Laura Vesser standing in the dark open doorway. Laura watched him ride away, then went into the station.

It was shortly after seven o'clock on Thursday morning when Tancred rode down South Street in Sage City. There were only a few people on the street at this early hour, but one or two stopped and stared at him, as he rode by, looking neither to the right or the left.

Tancred stopped in front of the Star plant and looked inside. It was deserted.

He stepped away from the door and turned toward the Miller home.

He knocked on the door and it was opened by Mrs. Miller. For a moment she stared at him in astonishment, then she leaned against him. Tancred put his arm about her shoulder and she put her head on his chest and sobbed.

"I didn't do it, Mrs. Miller," Tancred said.

She raised her tear-stained face. "I know you didn't. It was... Jacob Fugger. I—I always felt that it would come to that."

She stopped and dabbed at her eyes with the skirt of her apron. Then she cleared her throat.

"Come in, John."

He followed her into the house. "Sit down," Mrs. Miller said, pointing to a rocking chair.

"What are you going to do... about the paper?"

"We owed some money on the equipment; they'll take it. The rest... Mose thought perhaps I could sell it to the newspaper at Dodge or Ellsworth."

"No," said Tancred. "Keep the newspaper."

"But I can't run it—alone."

"I'll help you."

She stared at him. For a moment a ray of hope showed in her eyes, but then it faded and she shook her head. "It would only be the same thing over again."

"Perhaps, but Fugger'll know it, this time," Tancred said.

A little shudder ran through Mrs. Miller. "But that's revenge. And—and then you'll be like Luke—dead—and no one will be any the better for it."

"The town will," said Tancred. "And perhaps some of the people. People who've been frightened and intimidated. That was the way Luke thought about it. He knew he was risking his life."

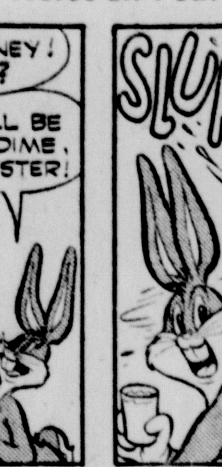

"We missed last week," she mused aloud, "and there's a lot of the local stuff still standing. We could do without the ads, or perhaps just run some of the old ones to fill up space."

She turned suddenly and went to a shelf beside the stove. She took down a large key and extended it to Tancred.

Tancred unlocked the door of the Star shop and went inside. He set his carpetbag down beside Miller's desk, got some paper and a pencil. Words had been pouring through his mind and he began to write.

He wrote a heading, in large

No Decision on Quemoy: Eisenhower

ing party secrets to the FBI. Some Communist informants have come to Hoover personally.

Aim To Destroy Communist Party

Brownell also reported on the Justice Department's new crack-down on Communist-dominated labor unions, proceeding under one of a series of Communist-control bills sponsored by the administration and passed in the closing days of Congress.

"The aim of the administration... is to utterly destroy the Communist party U. S. A. and its activities within the United States..." said the attorney general.

Top leaders of the government flew here Sunday for an intensive series of meetings with the President. Dulles flew in from the Far East, where he recently attended the Manila Pact conference and visited Japan and Formosa. The other federal policy makers came from Washington. They took off in big government planes for the nation's capital during the night.

The Security Council, meeting for the first time outside of Washington, canvassed a broad range of international problems — from Quemoy to rearming Germany.

Security Measures Taken

Because the men responsible for conducting most of the government's business were concentrated in one small area, unusual security measures were taken to protect them. The protection was worked out by the Secret Service, the FBI, the Central Intelligence Agency and the Air Force.

Before going into the meeting, Dulles was positive that a Red Chinese invasion of Formosa could not succeed.

"I am convinced, in the light of what I know, that it is not possible for the Chinese Communists, under any circumstances, to take Formosa... against such opposition as we would interpose," he said.

He restated the basic position of this government: The Seventh Fleet will protect the island stronghold of the Chinese Nationalists against all comers. He did not say whether this would apply to the defense of Quemoy, the little Nationalist island, close to the Chinese mainland, which has come under heavy Red artillery attack in recent weeks.

Whether to defend Quemoy as part of the defense of Formosa was a matter first for military consideration, then submission of recommendations to the executive branch. He said the President and the State Department would not necessarily be bound by the advice of the military.

Hoover, Brownell Report Early

Hoover and Brownell arrived ahead of Dulles and completed their business with the President before he went into his three-hour session with the Security Council. Reporting on a stepped-up drive against subversives, Brownell listed several immediate objectives under the control laws.

1. Immediate action against labor unions under Communist domination. He said the Justice Department is now collecting evidence on a number of unions for later submission to the Subversive Activities Control Board. If the board agrees with the evidence, the union is then barred from collective bargaining under the National Labor Relations Board.

2. The Justice Department program to induce Communists to avail themselves of the new immunity law and give the FBI information on party operations. Hoover said "we have already a number of approaches along that line from Communists." He said the FBI was making contacts for several weeks prior to enactment of the bill, and that he, himself, had interviewed some of the potential witnesses.

3. Quick use of the expatriation bill which makes it possible to take away the American citizenship of persons convicted under the Smith Act. Brownell said it would take "some hard legal work" to prepare a series of new cases, but that this was under way.

Drowns

OTTAWA, Ill. — One man drowned Sunday when a speedboat overturned on the Illinois River at Ottawa.

The drowning victim was William H. Eustis, 35, of Ottawa. A companion, Leon Arentsen, also of Ottawa, was rescued.

10 Killed in Crash Of Military Plane

WESTOVER AIR FORCE BASE, Mass. — Ten Air Force men were killed Sunday when a giant four-engine C-124 military transport plane crashed at Thule Air Force Base in Greenland.

The big plane, Military Air Transport Service's equivalent of the Globemaster, crashed while trying to return to the base just 12 minutes after taking off for the United States.

Five other Air Force members aboard the plane survived. Names of all personnel aboard the plane were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Pleads Guilty to Driving Charge

William Clary, arrested Saturday night by city police and charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol, pleaded guilty to the charge when arraigned before Police Magistrate Charles McKenzie.

McKenzie assessed a fine of $135.80 and Clary filled bond pending payment of the fine.

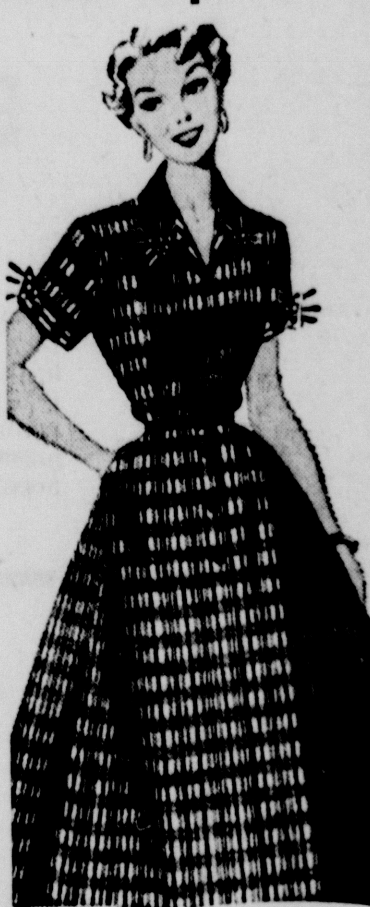

City police also arrested three motorists for speeding and two persons for intoxication over the week-end.

Mt. Carmel Edges Merchants, 6-5

The Mt. Carmel Aces, a hustling young ball club, came to town yesterday afternoon and shaded the local Merchants by a 6 to 5 count in a game played at the park diamond. The Aces could connect for only three safe blows during the contest but took advantage of an even half dozen miscues by the locals and also some wildness on the part of the local hurlers who issued seven bases on balls during the game.

The Merchants banged out ten solid safeties but gummed up three of these in the sixth by errant base running and failed to tally a score on three consecutive well hit balls.

Harrisburg scored once in the first and added three more in the third after the Aces had tallied three times in the same stanza. That was all the scoring until the eighth when the visitors scored three times without a single safety or ball hit out of the infield. Harrisburg added their final run in the ninth and had a runner at third as the game ended with a fly to short center.

Guy Hay and Tom Hamilton paced the losers at bat with two safeties each. Williams, McNew, Parton, Whitmore, Logsdon and Price connected for the other safe blows. Bailey, Walker and Vaughn had the visitors' three hits. Buzz Kennedy started on the hill for the locals and he gave away to Bill McNew in the third. McNew went the remainder of the game on the hill. Whitmore and Logsdon shared the catching chore. Tate, a fast throwing right hander was the winning hurler and Sullivan was his receiver.

Dick Romonosky, locals' regular receiver, gashed his hand severely in pre-game practice and was unable to play. The cut in the palm of his hand required three stitches. This was the first game that Dick has missed playing this year and his absence was felt by the local squad.

Next Sunday the locals will play the Evansville Orkns at the local park.

Baltimore to Pass One-Million Mark In Attendance

BALTIMORE, Md. — The Baltimore Orioles expect to pass the one-million mark in attendance for the season at Tuesday night's game against the Boston Red Sox. Sunday's crowd of 12,981, which saw the Orioles split a double-header with the Philadelphia Athletics to remain tied for seventh place in the "stay out of the cellar" battle, swelled the season total to 991,705.

NEW STAMP — Portugal will issue this stamp honoring the 150th anniversary of its Ministry of Finance. Pictured on the stamp is a "Ship of State" carrying figures representing "Public Fortune," "Financial Administration," "Vigilance," and "Prudence."

Delinquent Youth and Phony Cure-A-Alls Show Public is Grossly Misinformed

By KENNETH O. GILMORE
NEA Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON — (NEA)

Take away daylight saving and juvenile delinquency will come to a sudden end. Why? Because when it gets dark earlier children will go home and keep out of trouble. This absurd-sounding advice is typical of the one-shot solutions people seriously submit as remedies for juvenile delinquency. Such wild ideas are continually presented to social workers, psychiatrists, legislators and public officials.

Irrational though well-meaning, they indicate how grossly misinformed the American public is about delinquency despite all that is written and said about it. "We have the average parent so mixed up that he does not know whether to spank his child or not," Dr. George S. Stevenson, Medical Director of the National Association of Mental Health, told a recent Juvenile Delinquency Conference in Washington.

But individual crazy schemes are not the main worry of those working to halt juvenile delinquency. They are more concerned over a few widely-spread, phony cure-alls which are accepted by thousands of persons in communities, towns and cities across the nation.

Here are the five big fables of juvenile delinquency, according to BERTRAM M. BECK: Five big fables are experts' big worry.

Bertram M. Beck, Director of the Special Juvenile Delinquency Project at the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

First on the list and perhaps most prevalent is the idea you can stop delinquency by getting tough with all delinquents. It is true that a few troublesome youngsters have to be treated harshly—but not all of them, emphasizes Beck. "You have to handle a kid on the basis of what makes him tick," he says. The delinquent lives in a world full of hostility where one has to fight and grab. Thus in many cases the rough approach only confirms this attitude and generates more hostility.

Beck's second on the falsehood list comes under the heading of "punish the parents." This solution is based on the theory that if parents are held directly accountable for the behavior of their children they will make sure their offspring stay in line.

Such a tactic does not get to the heart of the matter, Beck points out, for a psychological difficulty cannot be outlawed. Take his example of a child left at home while the parents go out and drink. The child becomes a delinquent, does some damage and the parents are fined.

But leaving to drink is only symptomatic of the parents' feeling towards the child. Had they stayed at home it would have become evident in some other form. It is this feeling that cannot be controlled by law, says Beck. "The 'keep them busy' school constitutes another fable of juvenile delinquency. Most of the recreational and social programs aimed at preventing delinquency are far off base, according to Beck. This is because the hard core delinquent rebels and stays far away from any type of organized group.

These programs do a good job in that they keep normal kids normal, observes Beck, but they never reach the really socially maladjusted youngster except by accident.

The fourth of Beck's fables concerns foreign born and minority groups. None of them, he says, has any inferior qualities that lead to juvenile delinquency, as many people believe.

A 40-year study in Chicago shows certain slum areas maintained the same high rate of delinquency as various immigrant groups moved through them. And when, for example, the Irish, Italians and Jews were able to improve their standard of living and assimilate into better communities, their delinquency rate dropped.

The fifth fable claims all delinquents come from slums. Most do, but by no means all of them.

"One of the newest wrinkles in the juvenile delinquency picture notes Beck, 'is the fact that the rate of delinquency has increased more rapidly in the less densely populated areas than in the urban communities.'"

Rocky Tapers Off Training; Denies Charge

GROSSINGER, N. Y. — Rocky Marciano laughingly denied today he is a villain in the ring, as he tapered off training for Wednesday's return title defense against Ezzard Charles.

"I just can't believe Joe Louis said I'm a foul fighter," the champion told inquiring reporters. "He must be kidding. Why, Joe and I have always been the best of friends."

Ex-champion Louis put the blast on Rocky Sunday at Charles' camp in nearby Monticello, after watching uncensored movies of the first Marciano-Charles fight, June 17.

He said the Brockton Blockbuster took "not shot" at Ezzard after the bell and also hit him below the belt three times.

Bomber Joe added, "Personally, Rocky is a nice fellow, but I believe he fights foul under directions from his handlers, and I don't mean trainer Charley Goldman."

Concerning Wednesday night's fight at Yankee Stadium, Rocky said, "I believe I'll stop Charles if he starts at a faster pace this time, as he says he will. He was in pretty bad shape at the end of 15 rounds last time."

Marciano's two easy final rounds with Keene Simmons Sunday gave him a total of 111 rounds since he came to camp August 10. He weighs 188 pounds and plans to fight at 187, a half-pound more than in June. He will break camp Tuesday morning and fly to New York if the weather is good. Otherwise he will motor in.

Charles sparred six rounds Sunday and was slated for a final leather-tossing workout today. He will drive to New York Tuesday morning. He expects to scale about 189 pounds. He registered 185½ in June.

Drawings for Egyptian Golf Ass'n Tournament

Drawings have been made for a tournament by the Egyptian Golf association on the local golf course with play in three classes—Championship, Class A and Class B.

First round elimination play of 18 holes must be completed by Saturday night in Class A and Class B. Sunday there will be eight players each in the championship, Class A and Class B rounds.

Class B — Dale Wilson and Ronnie Doerge play an early round to determine who plays Jim Sullivan, Dale Sullivan-Dr. Arthur Franks, Ed Towle-Lowden Pankey, Verner Joyner, Jr.-Louie Questelle, Bob Moore-Ed Brantley, Rev. J. P. Emig-John Richard Small, Tom Davenport-Lowell Hill, J. B. Clark-Gene Humphrey.

Nine holes may be played at one time and the second nine at another but all 18 holes must be completed by Saturday night.

Eldorado Merchants Defeat Nash, 3-0

Harrisburg Nash dropped a 3-0 decision Sunday to the Eldorado Merchants to end an eight-game winning streak. Nash now has a record for the season of 15 victories and 10 losses. The Eldorado team record now reads nine wins against 5 defeats.

Big Guy Woodard was the Eldorado pitcher and he had the Harrisburg batters well in hand all the way, giving up just three hits, four walks and had seven strikeouts. His receiver was Hartford.

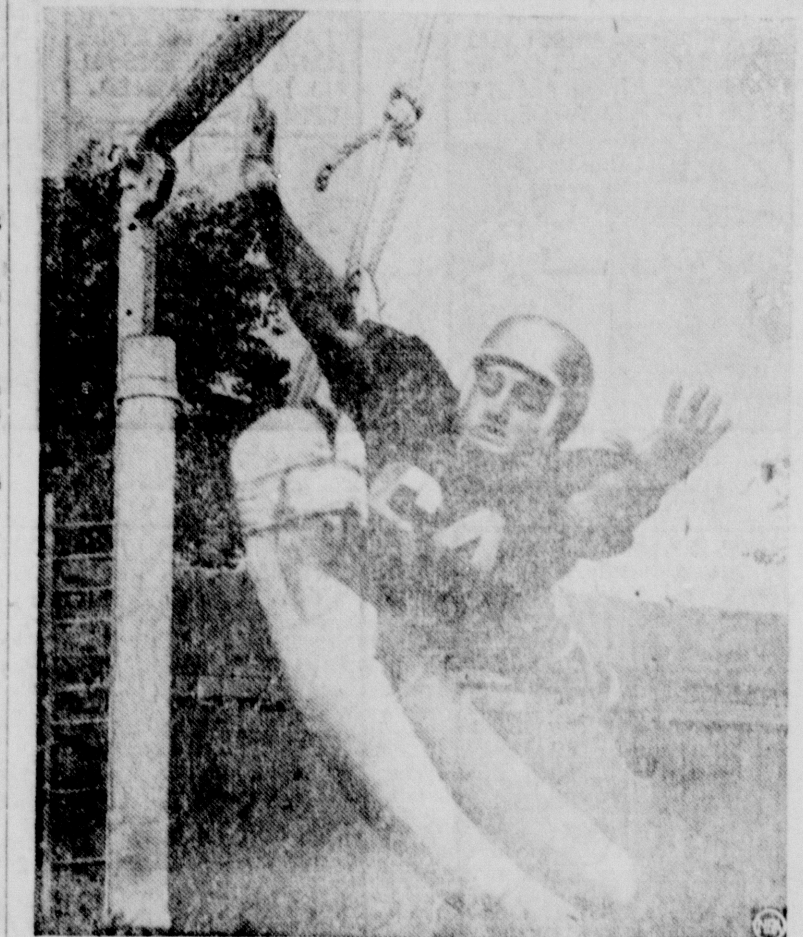

Wallace hurled for Nash, being touched for eight hits; he walked just one and had four strikeouts. Bledig caught for Nash.

Sissy, Wallace and Karnes picked up the Nash hits. Thaxton and Gidumb were the big guns in the Eldorado attack with two hits each. Woodard, Hartford, D. Griffith and F. Griffith gathered the other blows for the winners.

The two clubs are planning a return game for Sunday, Sept. 26, to be played at the Harrisburg town park diamond.

Indians Beat Yankees Twice To Practically Clinch Pennant; Giants' Lead Cut

By FRED DOWN
United Press Sports Writer

The Cleveland Indians rolled over the stricken New York Yankees toward the American league all-time record for victories today, but it's still a dogfight in the National league for the right to meet the Tribe in the richest of all World Series.

The Indians made their pennant clinching a mere formality Sunday with a 4-1 and 3-2 sweep of the Yankees that ballooned their first-place margin to a massive 8 1/2 games. With 10 games left to play, the Indians can mathematically end the Yankees' five-year reign with only three victories and they need only six wins to equal the 1927 Yankees' mark of 110 triumphs.

In the National league, however, the New York Giants' first-place lead dwindled to three games when they bowed to the St. Louis Cardinals, 4-3, while the second-place Brooklyn Dodgers downed the Chicago Cubs, 4-2 and 4-3.

The Milwaukee Braves split a doubleheader with the Philadelphia Phillies but remained in contention, 4 1/2 games out of first place on the eve of their important three-game series with the Giants.

Record Crowd Attends

A crowd of 86,573—largest ever to see a big league game—gathered at Cleveland's Municipal Stadium to see the Yankees make their last stand. But once again it was the Indians' magnificent pitching which took command and finally dealt the "old champs" the death blow.

Bob Lemon hurled a fine six-hitter for his 22nd victory in the opener and then Gus Wynn tossed a dazzling three-hitter for his 21st triumph in the second game. It was the fourth victory of the year over the Yankees for each and Wynn climaxed the great day for Cleveland fans by striking out Enos Slaughter, Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra in the ninth inning.

Carl Furillo drove in the winning run in each game as the Dodgers built their winning streak to five games but it was a pair of fine pitching jobs by Carl Erskine and Billy Loes which held the key to the victories. Erskine went the distance in the opener for his 17th triumph and Loes, who relieved Jim Hughes in the second inning, struck out eight and pitched eight scoreless innings in the 14-inning nightcap.

Durocher Uses 20 Players

Harvey Haddix received credit for his 17th win with the aid of ninth-inning relief from Al Brazle and Brooks Lawrence as the Cardinals handed the Giants their third loss in four games. Stan Musial sent the Cardinals off in front, 2-0, with his 35th homer in the first inning and also drove in their third run. Manager Leo Durocher tossed 20 players into the contest and now has employed 25 pitchers in the last seven games.

Murry Dickson pitched an eight-hitter and Stan Lopata hit a two-run homer as the Phillies snapped Warren Spahn's 11-game winning streak with a 5-2 win, but the Braves bounced back behind Lew Burdette's four-hitter to beat 20-game winner Robin Roberts, 2-1, in the second game.

The Giants have 13 games left to play while the Dodgers have only 11 and the Braves have 14. The Braves, therefore, have their last chance to "control" the race in the three-game series with the Giants opening Tuesday night.

In the other American league games, the Chicago White Sox reached the 99-win mark for the first time since 1929 with 5-3 and 7-5 wins over the Boston Red Sox; the Detroit Tigers beat the Washington Senators, 5-0 and 8-3, and the Philadelphia A's defeated the Baltimore Orioles, 5-4, after losing the first game, 4-3. In the National league, Ted Kluszewski hit his 47th and 48th homers, driving in nine runs as the Cincinnati Redlegs routed the Pittsburgh Pirates, 11-5 and 13-2.

Nash Plans New Ball Park

The Nash baseball club has started a campaign which it hopes will result in the construction of a new baseball park in Harrisburg.

The plans are for the park to be completed during the coming off-season months and be ready for the opening of the 1955 baseball season.

The park, as planned, will be completely enclosed by a fence and will include a brand new grandstand.

In addition to being used by the Nash club, the diamond will be available to the Kiwanis league, it has been said.

The club has announced a meeting for Tuesday night in the council room of the city hall, at which time plans will be outlined and the immediate work to be done will be discussed. All interested persons are invited to attend the meeting Tuesday night.

Dodgers Begin Printing World Series Tickets

BROOKLYN — The Dodgers are printing World Series tickets. That's how high the flickering, fragile flame called "hope" is flaring in Flatbush today.

Announcement of the ticket printing came booming over the Ebbets Field press box loud-speaker Sunday at the very second that the Dodgers completed a double-header sweep of the Chicago Cubs, 4-2 and 4-3 in 14 innings, to drive within three games of the league lead.

It was President Walter O'Malley's most effective way of telling his team and the world, "We have a chance. We still can do it."

How much of a chance it is, no one in the Dodger organization can guess. The "Bums" are riding a five-game winning streak — but they have only 11 games to play and they still are four games behind the league-leading New York Giants in that ominous, all-important "lost" column.

Manager Walter Alston very pointedly reminded his squad of their lingering pennant chances in a clubhouse meeting before Sunday's twin bill. It was reported that "the quiet man" had plenty to say about the five Dodger players who, club officials admit, have been breaking training in a Brooklyn bar.

The five players, whose after-hours high jinks reportedly were related to club officials by angry fans, have not been identified. O'Malley insists that "no key veterans" are involved. Dodger Vice President E. J. (Buzzy) Bavasi said he has a "pretty good idea" who they are, "and if there is any repetition, I'll sock them with $500 fines."

Practical Forest Study Projects Revealed in Report

CARBONDALE, Ill. — Seven Southern Illinois university divisions and departments have co-operated with the Carbondale Forest Research Center in practical forest study projects during the past year, says Richard Lane, forester in charge of the Center.

A progress report on the co-operative work was issued today by the Central States Forest Experiment Station, Columbus, O., directed by W. G. McGinnies. It serves six states in the nation's hardwood region. The Carbondale Center, located at SIU, is under the Station's jurisdiction. Co-operative programs with SIU started in December, 1950.

- Co-operative projects outlined in the report are:
1. A study of natural reproduction of bottomland hardwoods.
 2. The first Farm Forestry Field Day in the area at the Kaskaskia Experimental Forest (in co-operation with other state agencies).
 3. Developing farm woodland management guides applying to southern Illinois.
 4. Assigning to SIU for management research and demonstrations a small stream-margin hardwood timber tract at the Kaskaskia Experimental Forest.
 5. A study of log skidding at the Experimental Forest (in co-operation with a group of private firms).
 6. A study to determine adapt-

Sen. McCarthy Says He Will Campaign For GOP Candidates

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he will campaign for Republican candidates this fall but he had not decided how intensively.

McCarthy said he was not sure how many individual speaking stops he would make. He said he might confine his activities largely to radio and television appearances.

"I will campaign," he told reporters. "It's a question of how much. There's also a question of how much time to devote to committee work (of his Senate investigating subcommittee) and how much to the campaign."

He said he had already accepted two speaking engagements for this month—at Omaha Sept. 25 and Wheaton, Ill., Sept. 26.
